[NUMB. 1116.]

South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From THURSDAY Nobvember 6th, to THURSDAY November 13th, 1755.

PORTSMOUTH, September 1.

LAST friday morning arrived orders to all the captains of his majesty's navy, to sink, burn, take, and destroy all French vessels they meet, and immediately sailed the Colchester, Capt. Gardiner, on a cruize; and the Lyme, Capt. Vernon, to Sir Edward Hawke; but the Lyme was forced to return to St. Helen's. Last night arrived at Spithead, the Colchester, with 4 Martinico men she took off Portland, a ship, a snow, and 2 brigs; the ship carries 16 guns, homeward bound, the other 3 were outward bound.

Remain at Spithead 12 men of war, mostly ships of the line of battle. The Lyme sailed again just now, though it blows a storm, to endeavour to reach the remainder of the Martinico men, who were eleven in number; and if Capt. Gardiner had not had a convoy for Plymouth to take care of, he had certainly taken them all. The Antelope, Capt. Gayton, will sail on a cruize to morrow.

Portsmouth, Sept. 2. We have advice that admiral Hawke has taken 4 French men of war.

Deal, Sept. 3. A man of war, which we take to be the Roebuck, is just arrived, and has brought in 6 French vessels.

Weymouth, Sept. 4. There is just arrived here the Marquis of Bunam of Bayonne, from Greenland, 4 whales on board; she was taken the 27th of August by an English man of war. Also a French ship of war, which was out looking for the homeward bound East-India men, is taken and carried to Spithead. Ships are gone to cruize off Cape Finister, &c. Admiral Hawke has sent off ships on a cruize, so that there remain with him only eight.

Just now arrived here the Lyme man of war, who sailed from Spithead the 2d of September, and has 2 ships from Dunkirk to Marseilles.

London, August 30. Yesterday it was reported, that the regiments of Scotch Highlanders, lord Loudon's, general Stuart's, and the Buffs, are ordered for America.

The hon. lieutenant general Sir John Mordaunt, the earls of Rothemarle and Loudon, and lord John Murray, are named to go with three English and Highland regiments to America as soon as possible.

We are informed, that war will be declared the day after his majesty's arrival.

London, Sept. 4. 'Tis this moment reported that an express is arrived from admiral Hawke, giving account of an engagement in which he has taken 4 French men of war, and was in pursuit of 2 more; one of our ships sunk in the engagement.

NEW-YORK, October 13.

SEVERAL veſſels arrived here laſt week from New England, deep loaded with proviſions, for Albany, and others are hourly expected.

We hear, that the Mohawks had return'd, and were upon their march to join general Johnſon, in a very great body, dreſs'd and painted in a warlike manner, with all the tokens of reſentment at the death of Hendrick their chief, and others their friends, in the late engagement.

We hear, that on board one of the French ſhips lately carried into Halifax, there has been found a large parcel of ſcalping knives, which were ſent out from France for the Indians.

We hear, that a German, who pretended to be a deſerter from the French army, arrived at our camp, at Lake George, about 14 days ago, and begg'd protection of general Johnſon; but the general, after ſome interrogation, ſuſpecting him for a ſpy, protected him with a pair of irons, and ordered him directly for Albany.

Annapolis, October 9. By a perſon who arrived in town laſt monday from Col. Creſap's, we are told, That laſt wedneſday ſe'nnight, in the morning the Indians had taken a man priſoner, who was going to fort Cumberland from Frazier's, and had alſo carried off a woman from Frazer's plantation, which is 4 miles on this ſide fort Cumberland. The ſame morning they fell in with a man and his wife, who had left their plantation, and were retiring into the more populous parts of the country; they ſhot the horſe on which the man rid, but as it did not fall immediately, he made his eſcape; the woman it is ſuppoſed fell into their hands, as neither ſhe, nor the horſe on which ſhe was riding, have ſince been heard of. The ſame party of Indians have alſo killed or carried off Benjamin Rogers, his wife, and ſeven children, and Edmund Marie, of Fredrick county. On Patterſon's creek many families have, within this month, been murdered, carried away, or burnt in their houſes, by a party of theſe barbarians, who have entirely broke up that ſettlement.

Another perſon who left Stoddert's fort laſt ſunday, acquaints us, that the inhabitants of that part of the country were in the greateſt conſternation; that near 80 perſons were fled to the ſaid fort for protection, and many more gone off in the greateſt confuſion to Pennſylvania: This, it ſeems, has been occaſioned by an expreſs that was ſent lieutenant Stoddert and the neighbourhood, by Col. Creſſop, adviſing them, that a party of 17 Indians had paſſed by his houſe, and cut off ſome people, who dwelt on the town-creek, which is a few miles on this ſide col. Creſſop's: One, Daniel Allooſ, who lived near the creek, is come down towards Connecocheig, and gives the ſame account. He ſays alſo, that as himſelf and father, with ſeveral others, were retiring from their plantations, laſt ſaturday, they were attacked by the ſame Indians, as he ſuppoſes, and all but himſelf were killed and taken priſoners. It is ſaid that Mr. Stoddert, who has a command of 15 men, invited a few of the neighbourhood to join him and to go in queſt of the enemy, but they would not be perſwaded; whereupon he applied himſelf to major Prather for a detachment of the militia, either to go with a party of his men in purſuit of the ſavages, or garriſon his fort, while he made an excurſion. We hope there will be no backwardneſs in the militia to comply with ſuch a reaſonable requeſt, eſpecially as any party or perſon that ſhall take an enemy priſoner, will be rewarded with 6 pounds currency; and the perſon who will kill an enemy, with 40 pounds, provided he can produce witneſſes, or the enemy's ſcalp in teſtimony of ſuch action.

Philadelphia, October 16. We hear that general Shirley has given directions for the ſettlement of the accounts of the waggon and carriage horſes hired in this province for the late expedition, and for payment of the ſame. And that he has alſo been pleaſed to forbid the enliſting of ſervants or apprentices by the recruiting officers. It is hoped, that in grateful return for this, the inhabitants will be induſtrious in ſecuring deſerters, and encouraging the enliſtment of freemen.

Extract of a letter from an officer of diſtinction belonging to fort Cumberland, dated at Greenway court, October 6, 1755.

"I am here in my way to Williamſburgh, and, with the aſſiſtance of my lord Fairfax, am hurrying off the militia to the neighbourhood of fort Cumberland. The body of Indians, who, 'tis my opinion, thought of ſurprizing the fort, but have been diverted from their purpoſe by ſeveral falſe appearances, made under their eyes to deceive them, have, in the mean time, cut off the communication of the garriſon with the inhabitants, and have deſtroyed the whole ſettlement of Patterſon's creek, and are continuing their outrages down Potowmack. Nothing is to be ſeen but deſolation and murder, heightened with every barbarous circumſtance, and new inſtances of cruelty. They, at the inſtigation of the French with them, burn the plantations, the ſmoke of which darkens the day, and hides the neighbouring mountains from our ſight. They acted with the greateſt expedit, until they diſcovered our weakneſs; but having been aſſured of that by deſerters and priſoners, they now appear openly at all hours of the day, and lay all waſte before them. I was attacked on my way down, and drove back to the fort, with the loſs of one of my men. Notwithſtanding this havock our country people ſeem aſleep, and nothing but force will engage them to go againſt the enemy. The ſavages carry off all the young women. There are about a hundred killed and taken, and the whole back ſettlements running before them. I alarmed the country ſome days before the miſchief began, but they were infatuated, and waited their fate."

Extract of a letter from Winchester, in Virginia, October 9 1755.

"This day we hear that the Indians have burnt ſome houſes within 14 miles of this town, and yet the people ſeem quiet and eaſy. The whole ſettlement on Patterſon's creek have left their plantations, and the people on the South branch of Potowmack are doing the ſame."

There are a number of other letters in town confirming the above melancholy accounts, one of which ſays, that it is the Shawaneſe and Delaware Indians (our pretended friends) that have perpetrated theſe horrid cruelties in Virginia: That the number of Indians, who lately went out from Suquehannah againſt the French and their Indians, have returned, being frightened at hearing of the numbers of the enemy and the miſchief they have done among the Virginians: And that ſome of the inhabitants on the frontiers of this province, were leaving their habitations, for fear of falling into the hands of theſe blood-thirſty ſavages.

In a letter from Dumfries in Virginia, dated alſo the 9th of October, it is mentioned that above 100 recruits were to march that day from Fredrickſburgh and Alexandria for Will's creek where they had about 130 men, but that there were not above 50 of them fit for duty.
